DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-15 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-4, drawn to purified proteins, antigenic epitopes thereof, or biologically active portions thereof, classified in class 530, subclass 350.
- II. Claims 5-6, drawn to a method of screening a plurality of compounds to identify ligands, classified in class 435, subclass 4.
- III. Claims 7-8, 10-11, drawn to isolated polyclonal or monoclonal antibodies and methods of making such, classified in class 436, subclasses 547,548.
- IV. Claim 9, drawn to an agonist, classified in class 514, subclass 1.
- V. Claims 12-15, drawn to a method of using polyclonal or monoclonal antibodies to detect expression of a polypeptide in a sample to form a complex wherein said complex is diagnostic of cancer, classified in class 435, subclass 7.23.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Art Unit: 1642

The Inventions of Groups I, III, and IV represent separate and distinct products which are made by materially different methods, and are used in materially different methods which have different modes of operation, different functions and different effects.

The inventions of Groups II and V are materially distinct methods which differ at least in objectives, method steps, reagents and/or dosages and/or schedules used, response variables, and criteria for success.

The invention of Group I and the method of Group II are related as product and process of use.

The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (I) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (ii) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product [see MPEP § 806.05(h)]. In the instant case the protein products as claimed can be used in a materially different process such as the production of polyclonal antibodies.

The invention of Group III and the method of Group V are related as product and process of use.

The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (I) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (ii) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product [see MPEP § 806.05(h)]. In the instant case the antibody products as claimed can be used in a materially different process such as affinity chromatography.

Art Unit: 1642

The invention of Group IV and the method of Group II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (I) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (ii) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product [see MPEP § 806.05(h)]. In the instant case the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product such as DNA molecules, RNA molecules, or antibodies, or drugs.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Furthermore, because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one group is not required for another group, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Species Election:

Group II (Claim 6) is generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising the following:

- a) DNA and RNA molecules
- b) peptide nucleic acids
- c) peptides, proteins, and mimetics
- d) agonists
- e) antagonists and inhibitors

Art Unit: 1642

f) antibodies, immunoglobulins

g) drugs

The products of the above species represent separate and distinct molecules with different structures and functions such that one species could not be interchanged with the other. As such, each species would require different searches and the consideration of different patentability issues.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
